COMMUNICATION

W. W. Booth, Editor,
Tonopah Bonanza,

Dear Sir:

Much has been said and nothing has been done to solve the question of adequate and general sanitation in the town of Tonopah.

The public service commission has been here and gone, yet we are no nearer a solution of the question than we were years ago.

It is apparent at once, considering the present condition the town finds itself in, that we are not giving proper attention to this most important need for the general health of this community is anything but good. While it has to be admitted that all public service rates are high and, in fact, exorbitant, it is nevertheless an injustice to us that are willing to pay a high tribute for health's sake until some means of relief are provided, that our neighbors should shirk their responsibility in this direction. Further, it is now intended by some who have been users of the sewer system to go back to the cess-pool, septic tanks with their attendant stumps, and other crude methods of sanitation, yet it appears to one that has adapted himself to existing rate conditions years ago that the lives of our loved ones are really worth the high fees demanded of us for the use of a sewer system that certainly gives us every condition that is far better than any that can be put in vogue as outlined above. It is far from me to place myself in a position as defending the righteousness of any of the public service corporations doing business here, but I do hold that conditions are at a point right now where the protection of the health of our babies must be held far above any pecuniary retrenchment. It is a serious fact, this matter of lack of sanitation, that is getting little or none of the attention it deserves, and this lack of co-operation of all the citizens seems to be more the blame for existing sewer rates than the grasping proclivities of this particular corporation. If we can believe the report of the public service commission, I understand that the system has been offered to this town under an apportionment proposition and that this has been rejected, the recommendations of the above commission for the creation of a sanitary district has been ignored and the general public has shown a disinclination to connect with the system, so it seems to me as one of that public, sorry as

I am to confess, that the fault seems to lie with ourselves. This, however, does not alter the fact that some of us have and will continue to pack the freight of public good that most of our neighbors refuse to share with us. Conditions right now border on an epidemic, the town must have sanitation, some people won't help in this direction by their refusal to connect with the sewer system, the sewer company, besides requiring a deposit for connections, has given notice that all charges will be made in accordance to rates long in vogue and paid for by the early citizen when the town was one-half its present size. The willing citizen will either have to pack more freight or go without service, the unwilling citizen will pay less, and our wives and babies can go down with scarlet fever, smallpox and all other dreaded diseases, the schools and theaters can be closed, but the narrow minded neighbor will save his dollar. Let us be up and doing before it is too late. Buy the sewer system or let us connect up, or let us do something, anything for health's sake.

Very respectfully,
A PIONEER TAXPAYER.

UNREST OF ALL STOCK MARKETS IS WORLD WIDE

BOSTON AUTHORITY GIVES MANY REASONS FOR DECLINE OF ALL STOCKS

Eastern stock market conditions on Thursday were not satisfactory, and the slump continued, with its feeble rallies from time to time, to new low ranges on this movement, says the Salt Lake Tribune. There is a pretty well-settled conviction out west that the market's downward swing has not yet reached its limit and that considerably lower ranges will be seen before anything like an upward move comes. As one eastern wire had it yesterday, the world keeps looking for bad news and ignores the good news.

A well known Boston man who was in Salt Lake City on Thursday, but who was not willing to be quoted for obvious reasons, is a keen student of stock market and industrial affairs, and when asked by the Tribune for his opinion regarding the immediate future of the big markets, he said:

"I believe that there is a great deal of money to be made yet on the short side, despite the apparently drastic liquidation of the past several months. Stocks will go lower because of a combination of conditions which could not be more perfectly arranged and timed than the natural unfolding of events has brought them about."

"In the first place, there is the Balkan war in Europe; then there is the Mexican situation on this side of the sphere, and the likelihood of a gigantic eastern railroad strike within the very near future makes for uneasiness. There is in the United States a feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction, and in a very few weeks a new administration will assume control of the affairs of the nation which is expressly pledged to a downward revision of the tariff. Whatever the rights or wrongs of the tariff question, the program which is scheduled is bound to make for uncertain stock market conditions."

"To my mind, one of the greatest problems to be solved is that of the enormous amount of watered stock thrown upon the investing world, a problem that is still further complicated by the fact that much of this stock is in the hands of the public, innocent purchasers. Such watered stock represents a vastly overcapitalized proposition there can be only two real ways to bring this stock to its proper measure of value.

"There must be, first, either a recession in market value to where it belongs, or, second, there must be such an increase in assets of the enterprise that the watered stock is made the measure of real value."

"There has been a total disregard of the rights of the public in this matter of issuing watered stock broadcast, and it stands to reason that the enterprise must either charge an exorbitant price for its product from the consumer or the minimum of wages must be paid its employees, in order to reap earnings capable of paying dividends on the excessive capitalization. The presence of both these expedients makes for dissatisfied people, and as the people are becoming more educated to actual conditions they are holding aloof from the stock markets more and more."

"I see nothing in the immediate future justifying the belief that anything of a permanently improved character marketwise can be expected."
